

A bestselling book that is changing minds and hearts—and a reading experience that thousands of Episcopalians will now share

This fall, 2020, all 200 parishes in the Episcopal Diocese of New York are invited to form local groups to read, discuss, and learn from one of the most timely and important books of our day: How To Be An Antiracist, by the acclaimed winner of the National Book Award, Ibram X. Kendi. Your group will be eligible to buy books at a discount, and you'll have the opportunity to share insights and experiences with Episcopalians from other parishes who are on the same journey of exploration.

Meet the author. Our journey will culminate in an exclusive online event on October 22, 2020, when author Ibram X. Kendi will answer your questions and reflect on the nationwide antiracist movement that his writings have helped to fuel.

“Ibram X. Kendi offers an invitation to all of us and each of us to be transformed, to be enlarged, to be enriched, and to become better and more complete human beings, and more just communities.”

—The Right Reverend Andrew ML Dietsche, Bishop of New York
